To: Maroti Raghunath Shelke

Maroti had joined our project as fresher and quickly learn the required skillset for Predictive analytics projects. Your work on the data base configuration automation tool with Vijay was fantastic and you had successfully developed the code. You are very dedicated, hard working and having good potential as data scientist. Currently your new development on the forecasting algorithm based on the machine learning approach for dust collector system is appreciable. Keep up the good work and many more awards to come in future.
